

From the Desk of the Head of Security

March 2019

The below information was provided to me which I thought would be advantageous for all Owners and Residents when securing valuables.

Special points of interest:

- Do not store valuables in your car.
- Ensure your GPS does not list your 'home' address (call it something else or list a nearby location to home).
- Do not keep insurance, registration papers or paperwork that contains your home address.

Not all Thieves are Obtuse

LONG TERM PARKING:

People left their car in a long-term parking at the airport whilst away and someone broke into their car. Using the information on the car's registration in the glove compartment, they drove the car to the people's home and robbed it.

So I guess if we are going to leave the car in long-term parking, we should NOT leave the registration/insurance cards in it, nor your remote garage door opener. This gives us something to think about with all our new electronic technology.

GPS:

Someone had their car broken into while they were at a football game. Their car was parked on the green which was adjacent to the football stadium and specially allotted to football fans. Things stolen from the car included a garage door remote control, some money and a GPS which had been prominently mounted on the dashboard.

When the victims got home, they found that their house had been ransacked and just about everything worth anything had been stolen.

The thieves had used the GPS to guide them to the house. They then used the garage remote control to open the garage door and gain entry to the house.

The thieves knew the owners were at the football game, they knew what time the game was scheduled to finish and so they knew how much time they had to clean out the house.

It would appear that they had brought a truck to empty the house of its contents.

Something to consider if you have a GPS - don't put your home address in it. Put a nearby address (like a store or gas station) so you can still find your way home if you need to, but no one else would know where you live if your GPS were stolen.

MOBILE PHONE:

I never thought of this! This lady has now changed her habit of how she lists names on her mobile phone after her handbag was stolen. Her handbag, which contained her mobile phone, credit card, wallet was stolen.

Twenty minutes later when she called her partner from a pay phone telling him what had happened, he says, "I received your text asking about our pin number and I replied a little while ago."

When they rushed down to the bank, the bank staff told them all the money was already withdrawn.

The thief had actually used the stolen mobile phone to text "hubby" in the contact list and got hold of the pin number. Within 20 minutes he had withdrawn all the money from their bank account.

PURSE IN THE TROLLEY:

A lady went grocery-shopping at a local Shopping Centre and left her purse sitting in the children's seat of the cart while she reached for something off a shelf.

Wait till you read the WHOLE story!

Her wallet was stolen, and she reported it to the store personnel.

After returning home, she received a phone call from the Shopping Centre Security to say that they had her wallet and that although there was no money in it, it did still hold her personal papers.

She immediately went to pick up her wallet, only to be told by Shopping Centre Security that they had not called her.

By the time she returned home again, her house had been broken into and burglarized. The thieves knew that by calling and saying they were Shopping Centre Security, they could lure her out of her house long enough for them to burglarize it.

In Summary

- ◆ Do not disclose the relationship between you and the people in your contact list in your mobile. Avoid terms of endearment e.g.. Home, Honey, Hubby, Sweetheart, Dad, Mom, etc.
- ◆ Also, when being texted by friends or family to meet them somewhere, be sure to call back to confirm that the message came from them. If you don't reach them, be very careful about going places to meet "family and friends" who text you.
- ◆ And very importantly, when sensitive info is being asked through texts, confirm by calling back with number listed in directories (white/yellow pages).
